

The engine roars to life...

...pushing you back into your seat as you cruise down the runway at full throttle. Then with a gentle tug of the controls, the wings bite into the wind and the ground drops away as your airplane climbs into the bright blue sky.

Sound exciting? More than a million young people just like you thought so and have already taken a free flight through the EAA's Young Eagles program. Experience the thrill of flight up close in an airplane flown by a pilot from your area. Get an official certificate to show off to your friends and family. Have your name entered into the World's Largest Logbook at the EAA AirVenture Museum in Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

What are you waiting for? Jump on the web and log on to www.youneagles.org to find out more. Soon you'll be rolling down the runway and up into that bright blue sky!

A SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM

Harrison Ford Chairman, Young Eagles

"One of the great pleasures of life, no matter what you do, is to share your passion with young people. Through the EAA Young Eagles program we have an opportunity to demonstrate flying in a way that might not otherwise be possible and to infuse them with our enthusiasm for the experience."

Best known as an actor in more than three-dozen films, Harrison Ford is also an active pilot who is interested in sharing his passion for aviation with others. He is an EAA member and Young Eagles pilot.

EAA Young Eagles, P.O. Box 2683, Oshkosh WI 54903-2683

Dreams Take Flight

With EAA
Young Eagles

Your flight is ready to depart!

Ever look into the sky when an airplane flies overhead? Wonder what it would be like to be up there instead of down here? Quit wondering and schedule a free, introductory flight with EAA's Young Eagles program. You'll fly with a licensed, local pilot who will help you take the first steps to make your dream of flying come true.

So what are you waiting for?
Come fly with EAA's Young Eagles!

Visit the Young Eagles web site www.youneagles.org to find a pilot near you and to learn more about this unique program.

www.youneagles.org

But don't stop there; the Young Eagles web site can bring a wealth of information about aviation – from learning to fly to careers, schools and scholarships and the latest aviation news. You can also find out more about EAA's exclusive Student Membership that will help unlock even more resources. Plus, there's some fun stuff there, too, because, deep down, flying is fun!

EAA's Young Eagles program was launched in 1992 and has provided more than 1.4 million free flights in the hopes of inspiring young people to explore the world of flight. EAA members volunteer their time and aircraft to make these flights possible. EAA is an international aviation association with 170,000 members and 1,000 local Chapters. For more information, visit www.eaa.org.

